SERVICE & SUPPORT

Constantly improving your system availability, performance and quality

Lan Service Program

Our service approach is based on five building blocks: spare parts, inspection, preventive maintenance, remote emergency support and training. Together we pursue a clear goal: deliver you the necessary means, methods and knowledge to move your business.

1. Spare parts

We offer a wide range of spare parts to meet all your needs. Competitive prices and fast delivery times assured. Because we know our machines and parts well, we can put together a tailor-made spare parts package for you with the most essential parts.

2. Inspection

Unexpected equipment break down can cause big losses in production and lead to high repair costs. So prevention is good. Inspections by our service technicians gives you insight into the condition of your handling systems. You will be presented a written report detailing the condition of the machine and recommended work to keep your equipment in excellent condition.

3. Preventive maintenance

With the goal of keeping your equipment in excellent condition for optimal performance, we will help you with regular preventive maintenance and overhauls with the support of inspections.

4. Emergency support

Our remote support hotline is available for technical support. Your main contact point at Lan Handling organizes all services and support effectively and efficiently.

5. Training

It is important that your team of operators and technicians has the right knowledge of our machines on site. We organize training for machine operators and technicians to maximize the output of the machine and to keep the operational costs low. For example, by training on finding and resolving machine failures: the fastest way to get your machines up and running again!
